SPEAKERS

Pre approved speakers need to ensure that we have received all the following information from you by the 1st December 2023 at the latest. The earliest you can get this information to us the sooner we can promote you as a speaker online and on our social media networks.

- Head shot
- Full Name
- Position
- Company
- Bio (about the speaker)
- Talk Title
- Brief summary of the talk topic

Please send this to jo@superyachttechnologynetwork.com

Please note that all talks need to be dynamic, TED talks style. Superyacht Technology Network require a talk run through by the 19th January 2024 – this can be organised by Zoom/Teams/Google Meet meeting with Jack Robinson - contact him on jack@superyachttechnologynetwork.com

Please note that we have spent over £20,000 on top of the range AV equipment and technicians to assist you with your presentations/talks. Please make full use of this.

SPEAKER PREPARATION

Preparing for your Superyacht Technology Network Show & Conference speaker session

We want the conference speakers to be dynamic, interesting, memorable and above all inspirational.

Boring PowerPoint presentations are simply just not an option.

The idea behind the TECHtalks is to woo us with fact, stimulate us with data and be seen as an absolute authority in your given area of technology. Although we appreciate that you may well mention your company and products these TECHtalk's should primarily be topic lead and not a sales opportunity.

Share your knowledge of your chosen subject with us, and leave us wanting to know more...

A lot of time and effort should go into your speaker preparation to make you feel very confident on the stage about the TECHtalk you are discussing and prepared to answer questions at the end.

Topic outline and basic script

This is likely to have several revisions along the way as you read it out loud. Please don't just read out loud what you have on written on the screen behind. This is a sure way to bore your audience. Make sure that your script has a clear introduction, middle, and end.

Your idea can be new or surprising or challenge a belief your audience already has. Or it can be a great basic idea with a compelling new argument behind it.

SPEAKER PREPARATION

A good idea takes evidence or observations and draws a larger conclusion. Please remember that the audience relies on you to give accurate information, so whatever you say in your talk, please ensure that you fact-check.

Start by making your audience care, using a relatable example or an intriguing idea. Explain your idea clearly and with conviction. Describe your evidence and how and why your idea could be implemented. End by addressing how your idea could affect your audience if they were to accept it.

Timings

Your slot is a maximum of 20 minutes. Due to the quick succession of the day you must ensure that your session does not over run. We will be on hand to indicate when there are just a few minutes left, but please ensure that you have practised your TECHtalk so that we do not have to stop you part way through your flow.

Slides

If you are intending to use slides, consider whether they will add value to your TECHtalk or whether they will just distract the audience.

We have invested in a huge amount of AV and technical assistance at the World Trade Centre, so do feel free to make full use of it. But keep your slide messaging simple, use very few words – if your audience are busy reading your slides, they are not listening to what you are saying.

Your slides should be in 19:6 format.

SPEAKER PREPARATION

Rehearsals

Ensure that you rehearse, practice in front of a mirror so that you can be aware of your body language, practice in front of your colleagues and peers who are most likely to be able to correct you if you have any errors in what you are saying, but most importantly practice in front of family and friends who will be able to tell you if it makes sense to someone who isn't experienced in your talk topic.

Superyacht Technology Network Show

On the day don't read your script. You should have practiced this and the conversation of your TECHtalk should comfortably flow out of your mouth. Try to be aware of your movements on stage and any manerisms that show as a warning signs that a speaker isn't prepared.

End of the event

Ensure that you provide people with a few ways to contact you should they wish to give you feedback, carry on the conversation and ask any questions. This is a perfect opportunity for you to expand your network of people with similar interests within the superyacht technology industry and also to grow your LinkedIn following.

Hashtags

Ensure that you use the hashtag #STShow2024 when mentioning you are attending, speaking and to encourage interest in your TECHtalk to all our other attendees.

RISK ASSESSMENTS

You must complete a risk assessment that looks at the hazards, risks and control methods you have in place for your exhibition stand, including the set up, open period, breakdown and general activities where appropriate. We ask that you send these back to jo@superyachttechnologynetwork.com before 19th January 2024.

If for any reason you miss the deadline, please make sure you bring a copy of your Risk Assessment with you to the show, and leave it on your stand. If you have not supplied this ahead of the date and you do not have one with you, you maybe turned away from the event.

PUBLIC LIABILITY INSURANCE

Up to date Public Liability Insurance is compulsory. Failure to provide your Risk Assessment/valid Public Liability insurance number could result in you being unable to exhibit.

Although Superyacht Technology Network Show & Conference and the World Trade Centre have full insurance, exhibiting companies must arrange suitable cover for their stand liability and public liability insurance.

All items exhibited shall be the exhibitor's liability.

We ask that you send this to jo@superyachttechnologynetwork.com before the 19th January 2024.

ADDITIONAL ITEMS AND CATERING

Although there will be water fountains throughout the venue and tea/coffee/ water will be available in the break periods you may require additional catering items.

Additional electrical and furniture items are also available to order and purchase yourselves along with superfast WiFi and additional electricity if required.

Please contact Dolors Prats - Event Manager on dprats@wtcbarcelona.es to organise these items.
